THORNE BUILDERS

If you want to build a home in Mackay, you can't go past Thorne Builders for quality and reputation. Thorne has been building new homes since the 1960s and their attention to detail is why they are among the biggest and most respected builders in Mackay. The Thorne tradition is all about craftsmanship so the people building your new home really care about producing something that will last more than a lifetime.

Thorne builders don't just build a house – they build a home. That begins with helping select the best block to build on. Some house and land packages are available to simplify the process but you will never be pressured into buying land that doesn't meet your needs. Once you have selected your land, you can choose from more than 100 home designs to use as a starting point. If the choice seems a little overwhelming, Thorne Builders has a short-list of the most popular home designs for Mackay.

An in-house drafts person can then go through the finer points of the home to make modifications that suit your specific lifestyle.

The focus throughout the process is on getting the best result for you.

Founder, Ivan Thorne, built the business on reputation and that tradition continues. The emphasis may be on traditional values and craftsmanship, but you can still take advantage of all the modern building materials, techniques and innovations.
